Privacy Policy of Edukasyon.ph

In the process of using our Web site, you will be able to interact with fellow users regarding the services we offer and the content we upload. Such interaction will inevitably lead to discussions that we hope will be fruitful, informative, and even entertaining to everyone concerned. Our partnerships with different schools, organizations, and government agencies have also resulted in a growing community where everyone contributes to make a difference. In this light, signing up with Edukasyon.ph entails that you provide us with information we can use to better understand you as a student, parent or guidance counselor. Your privacy is our outmost concern and we will ensure that it will always be respected.

With these ideas in mind, the following are among the important things to take note regarding our privacy policy:

- You do not have to provide personal information to read blogs on our Web site. However, you are required to register to our system – either through your Edukasyon.ph account or your preferred social networking account – if you wish to avail of our various services or view premium content.
- We encourage you to log in so you can fully enjoy the extensive services that we offer.
- We may ask you to access information from your Facebook, Twitter, or other social networking site profiles if you share our content on any of these social networking sites.
- Sharing personal information through your Edukasyon.ph profile page will allow us to provide you with the content and services that you need in an efficient and effective manner. Because you will set your own privacy setting, you are empowered regarding the nature and amount of personal information that will be uploaded.
- We use tracking methods, such as user navigation and clicks, to provide optimum site performance. We track user "likes" for ranking and other data-generation purposes. These processes may involve depositing "cookies" in your computer. Our Web site also automatically aggregates data generated from these methods.
- There are instances when we may share aggregated data concerning ranking of schools or the most popular scholarship programs to users and clients in general. However, such data will not present personal information but only demographics. We respect and adhere to the sanctity of your privacy.
- We will exert our best effort to respect and protect your privacy. However, you are aware that the Internet has now taken a life of its own, and that online data transmission is not completely secure. As such, we deem you responsible in safeguarding your password and other user credentials.

Community Guidelines of Edukasyon.ph

By availing of and being able to use the tools and information on the site, the visitor is assumed to have read and understood and agrees to be bound by the following rules and all the other provisions regarding Disclaimer and Limitation of Liability, Privacy and Intellectual Property.

1. Use of Content. Content uploaded on our Web site are either of two things: these are our intellectual property or the intellectual property of our partners and those who allowed us to upload their content. Feel free to read them and learn from them. However, we expect that if you want to use our content, then you will ask for our permission through info@edukasyon.ph. We'll try our best to accommodate your requests.
2. We accept article contributions from users. But aside from the need to follow our guidelines on writing articles, we also need some rights if you want us to upload your contribution on our Web site. We just want to be sure that we can present your material to our users and readers the way that we want them presented.
3. We all know that stealing is bad right? So, don't steal content from Edukasyon.ph or from other sources! In this context, stealing refers to copying content without indicating the source of your information. Always remember, do not copy-paste... it would make things easier for everyone.
4. Respect is an important concept at Edukasyon.ph. As much as we respect your ideas and comments, we will not tolerate any hint of impropriety, harassment, posting of illegal or unsafe content, or disrespect on our Web site. We will strictly endeavor to ensure that our Web site will remain safe for everyone.
5. Using the services available on our Web site only means that you accept and will adhere to these guidelines that we have set, that we can change or add details to these guidelines as we deem necessary, and that we can deal with any inappropriate or abusive behavior you may try and do on our Web site. Simply put, if you violate these guidelines, then we will act accordingly.
6. Feedback. Our Web site has a comment section so you can express your ideas, sentiments, thoughts, apprehensions, etc., on our content. Although online discussion is synonymous to free expression, we expect that you will act in a respectful and civil manner to maintain an atmosphere of intelligent and insightful discussion.

Should the visitor/user not agree to any of the term and conditions above mentioned, he or she must immediately leave this site and desist from using the same.

You may want to clarify something. Or you may just want to say something and be heard. We would like to hear what you think. You may direct your questions, comments, suggestions, contributions, corrections to support@edukasyon.ph.
